

Eugenia P. Bitsani

Professor of Department Business and Organizations Administration

Of University of Peloponnese

e-mail: e.bitsani@go.uop.gr

Pr. Eugenia P. Bitsani, Political Scientist, has both academic and entrepreneurial experience. in the domain of cultural studies.

She holds the position of Professor at the University of the Peloponnese in the field of cultural policy and intercultural relations.

As an academic professor she applies interdisciplinary and transdisciplinary methods to the study of cultural policies, cultural heritage management, regional man-heritage-landscape systems.

Many of her publications about the previously mentioned scientific fields are.

published in English, in French and in Greek. She is also the author of the following books:

“Cultural Management and Regional Development. Planning of cultural policies and cultural product”, “Human Resources Management: Issues and current approaches of the theory of organizational and managerial behavior” and “The development of the social business in the fields of culture. An alternative proposal for regional development”.

As an entrepreneur she adopts transnational and cross-disciplinary approaches in access to art and culture (ICT tools, new media, and contemporary arts, TQM in the art-cultural management).

Moreover, she has worked as scientific project manager of many International and European programs of cultural management and politics (EUROMED HERITAGE, CULTURE 2006, EQUAL, LEADERII, LEADER PLUS, URBAN e.tc).

Eugenia P. Bitsani collaborates, as consultant, with international institutions of the public and private sector in strategic decisions and planning policies, on the socio-cultural domain.

Publications: <https://uop-gr.academia.edu/EugeniaBitsani>